Caltrain Commuting 101

How to get your Clipper Card and improve your commute instantly

Learn how you can start commuting with Caltrain for free

Traffic's picking up, but you don't have to wait in it - try riding Caltrain!

As gas prices are rising, commuting becomes more appealing especially when Caltrain is an easy, efficient, and environmentally-friendly option! Don't be left out of the fun - try Caltrain for your commute and enjoy a relaxing ride to and from work.

Here's a few extra tips to improve your Caltrain commute:

- Benefits-eligible Stanford Medicine employees can ride Caltrain for free with the Caltrain GoPass on your Stanford Medicine Clipper Card. Sign up and get your Caltrain GoPass, click here.
- Biking to the station? Make sure you have a destination tag on your bike! If you don't have one already, you can print your own following the instructions on the Caltrain website here.
- Driving to the station? Did you know that Caltrain stations south of San Jose Diridon have free parking? Check out the station map on Caltrain's website here.

- Prefer a shuttle ride? Free shuttles connect the Palo Alto Caltrain Station to the main hospital buildings. Click below for route maps & schedules
