

Parking Rewards Program

at
Watson Court
Staff Overflow Parking Lots

In addition to Yoshi, Transportation Services is introducing a new points for prize program for Stanford Health Care and Lucile Packard Children's Hospital employees using the Watson Court staff overflow parking lot. Depending on the overflow lot you use, you will either gain 1 or 2 point each time you park at the lot (View Map for detail). There will be Transportation Services staff patrolling the lots throughout the day to record your vehicle for points and peace of mind.

What Are Points For?

These points can be collected and used to redeem prizes. Prizes are separated into three different tiers, the cost to redeem for each tier is 30 points, 60 points, and 90 points. Upon redeeming your prize, all prize will have a cash value and reported as taxable income on your payroll.

How Can I Check Point Status?

Weekly email will be sent out to employees who has reached their point threshold: 30 points, 60 points, or 90 points.

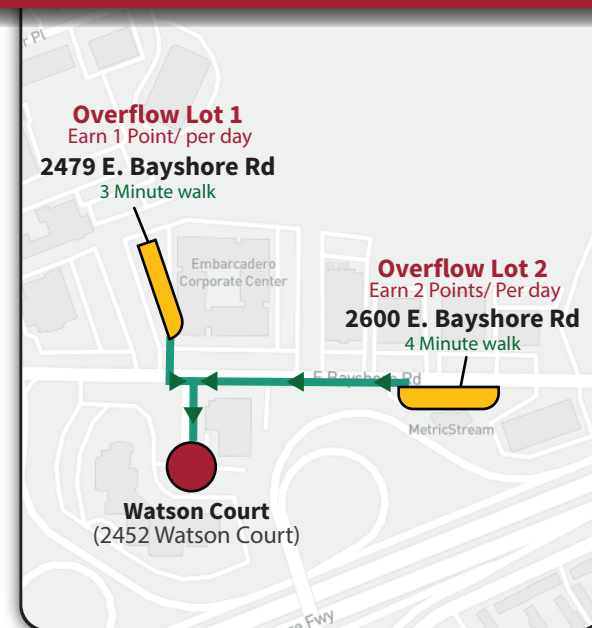

What Do I have To Do?

Apply for a free hang tag permit by scanning the QR code.

Please indicate your delivery preference on the form, either via mail or pick up .

Use the Watson Court staff overflow parking lots and display your permit.

Patrol staff will record your permit number to track your usage for a free car wash.

At this time, School of Medicine employees are not eligible for Park for Prize program. Stanford Medicine Transportation Services is in discussion with Stanford University to explore options to expand this program to include School of Medicine staff in the future. An announcement will be made when any changes are made to program eligibility.
